

Pediatric Infectious Diseases

The physician is also a part of the STAR program, a New York State AIDS designated program. The pediatric residents may rotate in the division as an option. The division was very active in collaborating with the adult ID division in diagnosis and management during the COVID-19 pandemic.